Dear Homeowner,

Thinking of selling your home? Then, take advantage of my 'house doctor' property preparation service. I am an experienced and talented interior designer with the added advantage of first-hand experience in estate agency.

I can advise you on what will - and what will not increase the value of your home. A small investment in time and money in the right areas could repay a handsome return. Your home is probably your most valuable asset, so it makes sense to maximise its value by presenting it at its very best prior to marketing.
